BLOOD ON THE MOON

Renewed Talk of a Duel Between

As special from New York says that the sensational Pollard-Breckinridge breach of promise case may yet lead to a more sensational pelplaced is indicated by a letter which Attorney Charles H. Stoll, now in that city, has addressed to Judge "Jere" Wilson.

In the days of Southern chivalry it would have been construed as a challenge to mortal combat, and there is a possibility that even in these advanced days it may have a startling denoument.

"There is another Court beyond this one in which you shall answer to me for this," had been Mr. Stoll's words to Judge Wilson, and their significance was increased by reference to the offended lawyer coming from a part of the United States where resort to the code duello is not obsolete.

Judge Wilsou made a formal retraction before the jury at the beginning of the next session, which was couched in language that does not quite satisfy the flery Kentuckian or his friends. However, Mr. Stoll forbore acting further until the verdict in his client's case should be renvertiet in his client's case should be ren-dered by the jury.

Upon the advice of Mr. Butterworth and Coloned Brecklaridge, another oppor-tunity was afforded Judge Wilson after the trial, in while to make a more com-plete retraction and anology. This not being fortheeming, Mr. Stoll addressed a letter to his antagonist, to which no reply or denial of any of the facts contained therein has been received so far. In his letter Mr. Stoll syrtually calls Mr. Wilson out, and there is danger of a duel.

THE Democrats promised the farmer $1 25 wheat if CLEVELAND was elected. Well, CLEVELAND was elected, and when is worth 50 cents a bushel. So you see 75 cents of that promise was a gosh darned lie. Now The Bulletin prints an article headed "Two-Dollar Wheat," argning that it's bound to go to that figure before the close of GROVER'S Administration. This won't do, sonny; you fooled the farmers once. You are not likely to born their fingers again.

THE Democratic party has once more mrendered to Republicanism, once more acknowledged that its loudest professions which it prociained undying loyalty were a humbug and a sham. A more humiliating and ignominious retreat than that of the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives cannot be imagined. The action of the Democratic cancus, says The New York Press, is a complete vindication of Speaker REED's course in counting a quorum and an abject admission that the month-pieces of Democracy were speaking falsely when they denonneed the "Reed as "tyranny" and "oppression."

For months after Speaker REED cour ageously put in practice the principle that a member of Congress who is actunit a memoor of congress was as-tunily in his seat is present, whether he votes or not, the Democratic press was full of savage abuse of this strong and brave Republican state-man. He was assailed in every Democratic newspaper with indecent virulence, and denonnced on the stump and on the floor of Con-gress as a brazen criminal who had violated the fundamental principles of American institutions. Today the Democratic majority in the Honse, after dis gusting the American people with its imbedlity and treachery, is forced to adopt the rules which its members con-demned, in Congress and ont of Congress, as tyrannical, arbitrary and subversive of pariiamentary rights.

It will be useless for Democratic organs to pretend that there is any sub-stantial difference between the "Reed rnles" and the regulations adopted by the Democratic canens. These regulations providing that the Clerk of the House shall make a record of members pres-ent and not voting and that the Speaker may then direct the entering of such members as present and forming part of a quorum, differ from the practice of the a quorum, differ from the practice of the Pifty-first Congress only in counting a quorum through the Clerk instead of through the Speaker. The essential point is that a quorum is to be connted. In foreing the Remocrats to adopt this principle as a part of their procedure, ex-Speaker REED has gained a notable victory and secured an explicit indomenant of his course from his bitterest op-

IF the elections of 1890 and 1892 meant that the people did not like the McKinley Bill, the elections of 1893 and 1894 indicate just as plainly that the people have changed their minds.

AFTER the adoption of the Reed role by this Democratic Congress, Mr. REE held a regular reception and the Speaker became so amazed he called the Honse to order. BUCK KILGORE, however, added to the excitement by going over to the Republican side and shaking hands with Mr. REED and then the Republicaus and some of the Democrats cheered and shouted and the Speaker rapped in vain for order.
